OVERVIEW

Michael is an accomplished Board Certified Behavior Analyst (BCBA), Six Sigma Black Belt (SSBB), and International Coach Federation Professional Certified Coach (PCC). He has a comprehensive management background from years of working in the C-suite of his own businesses and various industries to support training and education for patients with Autism. His proven leadership abilities culminate in driving daily organizational operations, providing management training, and supporting clients with wellness coaching. Michael has exceptional communication skills and expertise in delivering business consulting to companies on enhancing on-boarding, retention rate, and staff motivation through the Organized Behavior Management (OBM) model.

During his career, Michael has collaborated with HR leaders for on-boarding and staff reinforcement programs and developing training curriculum for companies of all types all while bringing passion and creative energy. He was previously a full time entrepreneur for 13 years growing a company to 3 large facilities serving 1,000+ children and employees. Michael has also spoken to the police academy about special needs de-escalation techniques and started a nonprofit to help parents who have children with special needs.

Michael has a special desire and extensive experience supporting children and young adults with Autism.

WHAT CLIENTS SAY

"I have witnessed Michael's executive skills and his ability to tailor his skill sets to meet the needs of stakeholders, including patients, therapy staff, and administration on many occasions. He is a visionary in his outlook to forecast the needs of the clients pioneering programs to address patient outcomes, training, and leadership. I have observed on multiple occasions his ability to listen attentively to stakeholders within the organization and the community to plan strategies for growth and development."

Wendy Neil, Executive Leader with Tomball ISD

"He is an excellent writer with a knack for translating complex information into engaging content that people can understand. He has used his knowledge of his profession to develop multiple platforms for training, including parent, staff, and educating his community. He has his finger on the pulse of trends within the industry and provides content that's both useful and captivating to his audiences. He's committed to quality, growth, and progress in all that he does, and he inspires his team members to strive for the same. In short, Michael is a person with vision."
